PREFACE.

The earliest issue of the Official Register (then known as the Register of Officials and Agents) was published in 1816 by the Secretary of State, under authority of a resolution of Congress approved April 27 of that year. The Secretary of State continued to issue the Register biennially until 1861, when, by act of Congress approved March 2, the supervision of its publication was transferred to the Department of the Interior. The Register of 1861 and each succeeding edition up to and including that of 1905 were issued by the Secretary of the Interior.

The law governing the publication of the Official Register, which had been amended from time to time, was revised in 1895 and was further amended in 1902, 1904, and 1913.

In 1906 the duty of publishing the Register was transferred, by act of Congress approved June 7, to the Director of the Census. This issue is the sixth which has been prepared under the act of 1906.

The following table shows the growth of the Register from 1816 to 1915, by decades from 1821 to 1891 and biennially from 1891 to 1917:

[1] There are omitted from this edition of the Register approximately 29,000 names of employees of classes that have been included in previous editions.

Prior to the transfer of the duty of publishing the Official Register from the Department of the Interior to the Bureau of the Census, the printing cost was a charge against the congressional appropriation for printing. When the transfer was made this cost became a charge against the appropriation for the Bureau of the Census, but at present it is paid out of the appropriation for the Department of Commerce. In former years a separate appropriation of $50,000 was made by Congress to the Department of the Interior to cover the cost of compiling the Register; in recent years no such appropriation has been made, and this cost has been a charge against the appropriations for the maintenance of the Bureau of the Census.

The adoption of the present form of the Register in 1907 made possible a very great reduction in its bulk, with a corresponding decrease in printing cost. As will be seen by reference to the table, the number of pages decreased from 4,219 in 1905 to 1,504 in 1907, while the cost fell from $70,800 to $25,600. From 1907 to 1911 the number of pages and the cost increased slightly, owing to the normal growth of the Government service.

For more than 30 years prior to 1913 the Register had been published in two volumes, the first relating to the Federal service generally, with the exception of the Postal Service, and the second to the Postal Service exclusively; but in compliance with a provision contained in the urgent deficiency act approved October 22, 1913, the Register, beginning with the edition for 1913, has been issued in one volume only, corresponding in scope to the former Volume I.

The present volume contains several sections. Section 1 is devoted to the legislative branch of the Government, and gives the names of the Members of the two Houses of Congress, together with the names and compensation of all officials and employees of Congress, officials and employees of joint congressional commissions and committees, and administrative officers of the Library of Congress and the National Botanic Garden. Sections 2 to 5 give the names, official designations, and compensation of persons in other branches of the Government service, as follows: (2) Executive departments and other governmental establishments—all persons occupying administrative and supervisory positions;

(3) judicial—justices, judges, and employees of all courts; (4) territories and insular possessions—principal officials; (5) alphabetical directory of all civilian employees of the United States Government, except those in the Postal Service. The directory is preceded by a key to the abbreviations used. Section 6 consists of two appendices: (I) Presenting the pay tables to be employed in computing the pay of officers in the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service; (II) containing a digest of legislation relating to the Official Register.

The information contained in sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 relates to the latest practicable date. It has been impossible to present this information as of a uniform date because of the abnormal growth and the numerous and rapid changes in organization and personnel which have taken place in some branches of the Government service since July 1, 1917.

The names of officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps are not included in the directory section of the present edition of the Official Register; but in the section showing the organization of the executive departments are given the names and official designations of those officers who are on detail for administrative service in the District of Columbia. The names, addresses, and certain other data in regard to officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps may be obtained from the Army Register and the Navy and Marine Corps Register (issued annually by the War and Navy Departments, respectively), from which publications the Census Bureau has secured the information pertaining to such officers that has been included in previous editions of the Official Register.

The names of temporary employees who, on July 1, 1917, had been in the service less than six months are also omitted. The instructions on the cards used for obtaining the information concerning the officials and employees whose names are included in the directory section were as follows:

> The information furnished for each person should be as of July 1, 1917, and the information is required for all employees of the Government, with the exception of those in the Postal Service and of temporary employees of all departments who entered upon their service after January 1, 1917. Temporary employees in the service on July 1, 1917, and appointed before, or whose employment began on, January 1, 1917, are to be included.

Although request was made that the number of temporary employees thus omitted from the returns be reported to the Bureau, this request was generally disregarded.

In addition to the names of employees omitted in accordance with the above instructions, there are omitted the names of about 40,000 persons who, though nominally connected with certain branches of the Government, had not the status of regular employees, and for whom no returns were made. These persons included about 6,300 collaborators, temporary cooperative agents, special meteorological observers, etc., in the Department of Agriculture; about 3,800 post-light keepers, vessel crews, and local cotton agents in the Department of Commerce; about 1,000 referees in bankruptcy and court commissioners (whose compensation is derived from fees) under the Department of Justice; about 5,000 temporary mechanics and laborers in the Reclamation and Indian services of the Department of the Interior; about 5,000 native employees in the Army and Navy services in Guam and the Philippines; about 17,000 employees on the silver roll of the Panama Canal; and about 1,600 employees of the government of the District of Columbia.

The returns made to the Bureau of the Census in some cases, particularly with reference to field employees, are so indefinite as seriously to impair their value. In other cases the names of certain of the field employees have been omitted by reason of the fact that they have been engaged upon work of so little importance, and have been employed to so slight an extent, that their inclusion has not been deemed desirable.

There is given in this edition of the Register a table showing the number of civilian officers and employees in each of the executive departments and independent offices on July 1, 1917. The figures shown in this table are in some cases necessarily only approximations, by reason of the fact that a number of the departments have large lump-sum appropriations, and the force paid from such appropriations is continually changing. The compilation of strictly accurate statements of the number of employees in such departments on a given date would involve much more labor than their importance would justify.

The act of Congress of March 3, 1893, provides that—

> Hereafter the Official Register of the United States shall contain a statement which will show, by departments or offices, the number of officers and employees in the several executive departments, the Department of Labor, the Government Printing Office, and the offices of the government of the District of Columbia appointed from each State and Territory and the District of Columbia, and the aggregate amount of their salaries or compensation.

There appears to have been no attempt to comply in full with this provision of law, which calls for a complete and elaborate tabulation covering all persons in the civil service of the United States both in and outside the District of Columbia, and which is therefore incompatible with the requirement of the act of January 12, 1895, that the Register shall be published on December 1. It has, however, been customary to present a statement giving the information required, but confining it to persons employed in the District of Columbia. Such a statement, as of July 1, 1917, is included in the present volume.

The preparation of this table presents various difficulties, of which four may be specifically mentioned:

(1) The greatest difficulty occurs in the compilation of the aggregate compensation, by reason of the facts that the compensation of a considerable number of employees is on a per diem or other basis than an annual salary and that it is not practicable to secure from the bureaus or offices the actual amount earned during the year by such employees in time for publication at the date required by law. For calculating the compensation of these employees the following method was adopted: (a) All per diem salaries were reduced to equivalent annual salaries by multiplying the rates specified by 313, the number of days, exclusive of Sundays, in the year; (b) in the case of pieceworkers, of whom there are many in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and in the Government Printing Office, the annual equivalent was computed from the average daily wage reported. No computation could be made in a few cases in which officials received fees or commissions in lieu of salary or in other cases in which officials received a per diem allowance only when actually employed. Because of these difficulties in calculating the aggregate compensation and because there are included the salaries not only of clerical and subclerical employees, but of the President, the heads of departments, and other officials, the figures given in the table do not provide a reliable basis for the computation of average clerical and subclerical salaries.

(2) Certain officials, particularly those serving on special commissions—some of them without pay—are only loosely connected with any of the executive departments or offices. These have been included, however, with the appropriate departments or offices where practicable.

(3) It was impossible to show the legal residence of the employees of the government of the District of Columbia for the reason that all the employees of the District government have always been reported as appointed from the District of Columbia. These employees, therefore, have been classified by State of birth instead of by State from which appointed.

(4) The compensation of officers of the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service on regular detail for service in the District of Columbia can not be included in the aggregate compensation of employees in the District of Columbia, for the reason that many of the officers report only "pay of rank," which can not be computed from the pay tables unless the length and details of service are known, while others report their total compensation, including allowances.

For the reasons stated in the preceding paragraph, the compensation of officers of the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service is given in the directory portion of this volume as "pay of rank."

DESIRABILITY OF CHANGE IN FORM OF OFFICIAL REGISTER.

Even in normal times the obligation resting upon the executive departments and other branches of the Government service to supply the information required by law for the compilation of the Official Register imposes upon them in some cases a work of considerable magnitude. This is particularly the case with those departments which have numerous outlying services, especially in foreign countries and in the dependencies of the United States. In former years it has been exceedingly difficult, and under the conditions which have prevailed during the past few months it has been absolutely impossible, to obtain and check all the information required for each of the employees in these outlying services in time to permit the publication of the Official Register upon the date fixed by law.

Because of these and various other difficulties, and especially in view of the fact that the Register is necessarily at least five months out of date as soon as it is issued, I have renewed, in my annual report for the fiscal year 1917, the recommendations made in the reports of my predecessor for the fiscal years 1913 and 1914 and in my own reports for the fiscal years 1915 and 1916. These recommendations are as follows:

1. The establishment of a card directory, prepared and maintained by the Civil Service Commission from information furnished by the executive departments and independent offices, showing the name and status of every person in the Government service, except the officers and enlisted men of the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service. (Lists of officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps are already published annually in the Army Register and the Navy and Marine Corps Register, issued by the War and Navy Departments, respectively.)

2. The elimination from the Official Register of detailed lists of all employees, by name.

3. The publication annually by the Bureau of the Census of an Official Register containing—

(a) A list of all employees of the Government (except officers and enlisted men in the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service), whose duties are of an executive, supervisory, technical, or professional character and whose compensation is $2,000 or more per annum.

(b) Statistics relating to the Government service to be prepared from the Civil Service Commission's card directory

If the material in the Register were thus confined to a presentation of the organization of each of the bureaus and independent offices, with a full list of the administrative and supervisory officials, together with tables showing, so far as practicable, the numbers of employees in the various grades and classes, it would convey all the information concerning Government departments and personnel which should be of general interest. The adoption of the plan outlined above would also result in a very considerable reduction in the expense of preparing the Official Register and at the same time would provide for a complete and up-to-date record of the entire personnel of the Government in one central office (the Civil Service Commission) in such form that the Census Bureau would be able, by the aid of its tabulating machinery, quickly and accurately to compile statistics relating to Federal employees when called upon to do so by the President or by Congress.

A bill (H. R. 2354) embodying the desired changes in the scope of the Official Register is now before the House of Representatives, and its enactment into law is strongly urged.

SAM. L. ROGERS,
Director of the Census.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS,
Washington.

NUMBER OF PERSONS IN THE LEGISLATIVE, EXECUTIVE, AND JUDICIAL SERVICES OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

The following table shows the approximate total number of persons in the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial services of the Federal Government, including the various commissions, etc., with headquarters in Washington, but exclusive of the temporary war organizations and of the commissioned and warrant officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps (who are shown in the Army Register and the Navy and Marine Corps Register), and of the Officers' Reserve Corps, classified by departments, bureaus, and independent offices on July 1, 1917. Figures for the government of the District of Columbia (approximately one-half of the expenses of which are paid by the Federal Government) and for the Library of Congress are also shown. It is impracticable to present the figures in a uniform manner; they are shown, as a rule, in the form in which they were furnished to the Census Bureau.

These figures are in some cases only approximations, owing to the fact that certain of the departments and offices have lump-sum appropriations and the force paid from such appropriations is continually varying in size, so that the furnishing of absolutely accurate statements as to the number of persons in the service at any particular date would involve more labor than would be justified by the importance of the statistics.

The total number of employees shown in the table is 553,991, of whom 46,835 were employed in the District of Columbia and 507,156 outside of the District of Columbia. The number of names shown in the Directory section of the Register is approximately 166,000. The difference between this total and the total number of employees (553,991) is due to the inclusion in the table, but not in the Directory, of 299,668 employees in the Postal Service; of 6,300 collaborators, temporary cooperative agents, special meteorological observers, etc., in the Department of Agriculture; of about 1,000 referees and court commissioners (whose compensation is derived from fees) under the Department of Justice; of 5,000 mechanics, laborers, etc., more or less temporarily employed, in the Reclamation Service and in minor positions in the Indian Service of the Interior Department; of 3,800 employees in temporary and minor positions in the Department of Commerce; of 1,600 temporary employees of the government of the District of Columbia; of 5,000 native employees in the Army and Navy services in Guam and the Philippines; of 17,000 employees on the silver roll of the Panama Canal; and a large number of temporary employees; and to the fact that, as already stated, the figures shown in the table are in some cases necessarily only approximations.

NUMBER OF PERSONS IN THE LEGISLATIVE, EXECUTIVE, AND JUDICIAL SERVICES OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, JULY 1, 1917.

Recapitulation.

Approximate number of persons in the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial services of the Federal Government, the government of the District of Columbia, and the Library of Congress (exclusive of the number of employees in the various temporary war organizations, including the Committee on Public Information, Council of National Defense, War Trade Board, United States Food Administration, Fuel Administration, and Alien Property Custodian, nearly all of which were organized after July 1. The number of paid employees in these organizations on December 1 was about 3,800, including the paid employees of the offices of the Federal State food and fuel administrations)		553,991

[1] Does not include the number of employees in the various temporary war organizations, including the Committee on Public Information, Council of National Defense War Trade Board, United States Food Administration, Fuel Administration, and Alien Property Custodian. The number of officials and employees (not including volunteers) in these organizations on Dec. 1 was approximately 3,800, which includes the paid employees of the State Food and Fuel Administrations. Of this number about 3,000 were employed in Washington and 800 outside of Washington.

[2] Includes 346 justices, judges, officials, and employees of courts and institutions in the District of Columbia, connected with or under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice.

[3] Does not include Regular Army officers nor Reserve Corps officers on duty in Washington.

[4] Does not include officers of the Navy or Marine Corps on duty in Washington.

[5] Includes the 232 employees of the mail-bag repair shop.

[6] This total represents the personnel of the board on Nov. 1.

[7] Does not include approximately 500 temporary employees on June 30.

[8] Includes 140 employees under the Superintendent of the Library Building and Grounds.

[9] Does not include laborers on outside work, as streets, sewers, etc., a large number of whom are temporary employees. The approximate average monthly number of such excluded employees is 1,590.

NUMBER AND AGGREGATE COMPENSATION OF PERSONS APPOINTED FROM EACH STATE AND TERRITORY EMPLOYED IN THE FEDERAL EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL SERVICES IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, CLASSIFIED BY DEPARTMENTS AND INDEPENDENT OFFICES, JULY 1, 1917.

NOTES.—The aggregate compensation given in this table is based on the basic pay of each employee, the cards from which the table was made up being returned without the addition of the increase of pay for the fiscal year 1917 authorized by the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act, of 5 per cent to employees receiving a compensation of $1,200 or more, but not exceeding $1,800, and of 10 per cent to employees receiving less than $1,200 per annum. It is estimated that of the employees included in this table approximately 50 per cent received less than $1,200 per annum and approximately 40 per cent received $1,200 or more, but not exceeding $1,800.

The figures of this table do not include the number or compensation of the officers of the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Public Health Service on duty in the District of Columbia, since the returns for these officers give the compensation as "Pay of rank" (see Appendix I), which it is not practicable to compile.

In computing the compensation of the pieceworkers and per diem employees in the Washington Navy Yard, the Government Printing Office, and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing no account is made of the extra pay for overtime work.

No returns were made for temporary employees in any department or service of the Government.

For these reasons and for the further one that the salaries of the President, the heads of departments, and other officials are included, the figures here given do not furnish a reliable basis for the computation of average clerical and subclerical salaries.

[1] Does not include the 1,129 officials and employees of the Senate and House of Representatives, nor the number and aggregate compensation of employees in the various temporary war organizations, including the Committee on Public Information, Council of National Defense, War Trade Board, United States Food Administration, Fuel Administration, and Alien Property Custodian. The number of officials and employees (not including volunteers) in these organizations on Dec. 1 was approximately 3,800, which includes the paid employees of the state Food and Fuel Administrations. Of this number about 3,000 were employed in Washington and 800 outside of Washington. It is impracticable to give the amount of compensation, as the number of employees is constantly changing.

[2] Does not include Regular Army officers nor Reserve Corps officers on duty in Washington.

[3] Includes 346 justices, judges, officials, and employees of courts and institutions connected with or under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice in the District of Columbia, with an aggregate compensation of $921,270.

[4] Includes the 232 employees of the mail-bag repair shop.

[5] Includes salary of the President, $75,000.

[1] Does not include approximately 500 temporary employees on June 30. The report of the Public Printer for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, gives the total expenditures for salaries and wages, including the office of the Superintendent of Documents, as $1,692,535.

[2] Includes 140 employees under the superintendent of the Library building and grounds.

[3] Since all employees of the government of the District of Columbia are reported as appointed from the District of Columbia, it has been necessary in compiling this column to use instead of the place from which appointed the place of birth of each appointee. This statement does not include laborers on outside work, as streets, sewers, etc., a large number of whom are temporary employees. The approximate average monthly number of such excluded employees is 1,600, and their approximate aggregate compensation is $924,000.

[4] Includes the following boards, commissions, etc.: Board of Mediation and Conciliation, American-British Claims Arbitration Commission, International (Canadian) Boundary Commission, International High Commission—United States Section, International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada, Commission of Fine Arts, Arlington Memorial Amphitheater Commission, Lincoln Memorial Commission, Commission on Memorial to Women of the Civil War, and United States Botanic Garden.

WAR ORGANIZATIONS.

The several war organizations listed below are temporary in character and some of them are largely dependent upon volunteer direction. Created during the early days of America's participation in the war when plan and not detail was chiefly in mind, some of these organizations came into being with functions and powers not at all sharply defined. Since the hour commanded an extreme of effort from all, their work has been governed and directed in large measure by national needs rather than by specific legislative enactment. As these organizations are constantly confronted by new problems and new phases of their work, frequent alterations and rearrangements of their forces are necessary. They have called to their assistance men and women from all parts of the United States to aid in discharging the functions delegated to them, and their whole plan of administration and organization is one of flexibility. This condition naturally results in frequent changes in compensation, so that a presentation of salaries for a particular date—even if it were practicable to make it—would rapidly lose its value. Although it is provided by law that the Official Register shall relate to July 1, in order to enhance its value, the information is given as of the latest practicable date. This, in the case of the names and data in the Directory section for the temporary war establishments, is in some instances as late as October 15; and the following outline of the organization of these establishments is presented as of the latest available date:

[1] NOTE.—The Department of State issues annually, as of December 1, a Register of the Department, in which is given complete information concerning the officials and employees of the Department in Washington, and of the diplomatic and consular services of the United States, consular districts and salaries and fees, and a biographical statement respecting persons serving under appointment of the Department at home or abroad; acts and regulations governing the Department and services. Sample examinations for the diplomatic and consular services; lists of the foreign embassies and legations in the United States; and an alphabetical index of persons. In addition to this annual Register there is issued three or four times a year supplements showing the changes in the diplomatic and consular services of the United States. This Register, and the supplements, are for sale by the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, D. C.

[2] Clerks employed at the various diplomatic missions receive compensation varying, as a rule, from $1,000 to $1,800 a year.

[1] Vacancy.

[2] NOTE.—Vice consuls receive no compensation as such when the principal officer is at his post, but when acting for the principal officer he is entitled to receive, in addition to any salary or compensation as a subordinate officer or employee, an amount sufficient to make his compensation for the period he may be in charge of the office, equal to 50 per cent of the salary of the principal officer.

The consular agent is an officer subordinate to a consul general or consul, exercising similar powers at a place different from that in which the consul general or consulate is situated. One-half of the fees collected by him constitute his compensation, which may not exceed $1,000 in any one year. A consular agent may engage in private business in the country of his official residence.

[1] The names of Army officers are not shown in the Directory section of this volume. In compliance with law there is published annually by the War Department an Official Army Register. This register is issued as of December 1 each year, and gives complete information with reference to rank and service in the Army, place of birth, and place from which appointed for every active and retired officer. In addition there is given the organization of the Army and tables of pay of every branch of the Service. An alphabetical name index is a feature of the register, which is for sale by the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, D. C.

[2] For pay of officers, where compensation is given as "Pay of rank," see pay tables of Army in Appendix I.

[1] The names of officers of the Navy and Marine Corps are not shown in the Directory section of this volume. There is issued annually by the Navy Department a register of the commissioned and warrant officers of the United States Navy and Marine Corps. This register is of date January 1. It gives complete information concerning every commissioned and warrant officer of the Navy and Marine Corps both on the active and retired lists. In addition it shows the location of the various navy yards and shore stations, the ships of the Navy, and gives the pay tables of the Navy and Marine Corps. A name index closes the register. Copies can be secured by purchase from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, D. C.

[2] For pay of officers, where compensation is given as "Pay of rank," see Navy pay tables in Appendix I.

UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD EMERGENCY FLEET CORPORATION.

(December 28, 1917.)

[Acting under the authority of the shipping act, the Shipping Board on Apr. 16, 1917, organized the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, and delegated to that corporation the execution of its construction program. Subsequently the comprehensive powers conferred upon the President by the urgent deficiencies appropriation act of June 15, 1917, in so far as they relate to the construction of vessels, were delegated by Executive Order to the corporation. On Nov. 1, 1917, the corporation had 16 offices in various parts of the country and was supervising the building of vessels in 116 shipyards distributed throughout the United States.]

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

[The Smithsonian Institution, for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men, was founded by James Smithson, an Englishman, who bequeathed his fortune to the United States for this purpose. It was established by act of Congress approved August 10, 1846, and its fund has been increased by other subsequent bequests and gifts. Its statutory members are the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Chief Justice of the United States, and the heads of the executive departments. The business is conducted by a board of regents, who serve without compensation. The names of employees whose salaries are paid from the Smithsonian endowment fund are not included in the Official Register, except those connected with the administrative office.]

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

[The American Red Cross is not a part of the Federal Executive service and receives no appropriation from Congress; it is sustained entirely through voluntary contributions. It is organized under a charter granted by Congress and cooperates with every branch of the Federal Government where its activities can be of service in furthering the national welfare. In accordance with the terms of its charter it reports annually to the Secretary of War, and its accounts are audited by the War Department. A very comprehensive report has been issued by the War Council of the contributions, appropriations, and activities from the outbreak of the war to November 1, 1917. The headquarters of the Red Cross are in the city of Washington, and its appointments are made according to its own regulations.]

DIRECTORY.

NOTE.—The information shown regarding each person is presented in abbreviated form, and the sequence observed is as follows: Name Department in which employed Bureau, office, or service of the department in which employed Official title Compensation State, Territory, or country of birth Number of Congressional district, and State and county from which appointed Place of employment.

For key to abbreviations, see pages 118 to 120.

Where the given name is abbreviated (Chas., Jas., Wm., etc.) the alphabetical arrangement follows the spelling of the name. All names with the prefix Mc have been brought together in a separate section.

In the entries for officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps it is not practicable to show the length of service or special assignment on which the rate of pay is based, but the information is given in detail for these services in the "Official Army Register" and in "The Navy and Marine Corps Register." These publications are issued annually and give all details concerning the service, rank, and special assignments of officers and are supplemented by lists showing the frequent changes in the services.

Dashes indicate that data could not be secured for information omitted.

Where "Pay Rank" or "Pay Grade" is given as compensation of Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Public Health Service officers, reference should be made to the pay tables in Appendix I.
